I feel that I deserve 85% of the possible points for class participation. I believe that my performance falls in between the 90% and 80% descriptions. I feel that the 100% description is not attainable by anyone in the class. The 90% description is almost what describes my performance but I am deducting for a few missed classes.

In the area of preparation I believe that I did very well. I always tried to have all the notes printed off the website. I kept up on the readings of the book and of the cases. I also reviewed the questions given for each chapter. There were a few occasions that I attended class without doing all the assigned reading but I always tried to review the reading ahead of time.

I feel that I excelled in the area of professionalism. I have always arrived to class ahead of time, been very attentive, turned homework in on time, and had a positive attitude ready to learn. I have always been present mentally in class and listened to the instructor and fellow students. I can honestly say that I have always devoted my full attention to class when I am in class. I have also always submitted good quality work consistently.

I believe that class attendance is very important, and in past semesters I rarely ever missed any classes, but this semester I believe I have missed this class a total of three times. Being a graduating senior, some professional development opportunities have conflicted with class on occasion. I have to apologize for sometimes wearing a hat in class, I somehow missed that part of the syllabus in the beginning of class, after I saw read it a couple of months ago I have tried not to wear a hat while in class.

In the area of participation I feel that I have participated a great deal. I try to bring up a interesting, relevant, and appropriate comments or views on topics being discussed in class. I try to participate in class discussion at least once every class. I have attended class without speaking in class discussion a few times but I have also participated a great deal on certain days. In group activities I am always a very active participant.
